Interfaith Bible Sharing

By: Pablo Nienisan Ed. D.

Interfaith sharing is designed to help the persons overcome values confusion, beliefs and become more positive, purposeful and productive, as well as to have better interpersonal relationship between man and savior Jesus Christ. The first vital organ created by God was the "heart". According to Pascal, the physicist and philosopher, "There is a GOD-SHAPED vacuum in the heart of every man which cannot be satisfied by any created being but only by God, the Creator.

Relative to this, some of the teachers of Binuni-Demologan National High School (BDNHS) were invited by Mildred P. Cellerio, a Master Teacher I for a Bible Sharing every Thursday afternoon after classes. They do it as an offer to their savior Jesus Christ. This is anchored from the texts taken from Psalm 42:3 and Psalm 43:3 which stress "My soul thirsts for God, for the living God" and "Send forth your light and truth; let them be my guide."

The author believes that this interfaith sharing has helped the teachers find Jesus Christ, their savior and great teacher. The author further learned some values and teachings of Jesus Christ. His teachings to serve with humility and love in action inspired His followers. Teachers from the different schools transmit values and faith to the students both consciously and unconsciously. Sometimes the transmission occurs through what educators call the "Hidden Curriculum". It means that the unstated meanings are conveyed by the teachers' attitudes and behavior.

If the teachers put Jesus Christ as the center of their hearts in teaching good moral character, academic excellence and skills are made possible. Through this interfaith sharing, their faith in Jesus Christ has eventually emerged. He can work among them as a living and loving God.

Acuno caps Kalikasan LN Crown

Jonah Fe Acuno, a senior student of Binuni-Demologan National High School, earned the title Lakambini ng Kalikasan Lanao del Norte '09 last September 19 at Lanao del Norte National Comprehensive High School, Baroy, Lanao del Norte.

The search for Lakan/Lakambini ng Kalikasan served as the highlight during the Division YES-O Camp held last September 18-20, 2009 at the same school. It was participated in by secondary students and elementary pupils from different public schools all over the province.

The 12 pairs of contestants vying for the title Lakan/Lakambini ng Kalikasan Lanao Del Norte '09 presented their talents during the Talents' Presentation, the night before the said event. During the pageant proper, the contestants presented their production number, flaunted each of their indigenous kalikasan attire, and expressed their opinions during the interview portion in which they were asked to explain the problem presented in an LCD monitor and to offer solutions to it.

Acuno, who was a head shorter than the 11 other candidates, said that it was because of her continuous flow of thoughts and direct-to-the-point answer during the interview portion that made her win the title.

Acuno, a fifteen year old charmer who hails from Bandol, Rupagan, Bacolod, Lanao del Norte, also garnered the Miss Congeniality Award. She represented the province during the search for the Lakambini ng Kalikasan Region X last December 1, 2009.

Meanwhile, Ramuth John de Veyra, Acuno's partner, also a BDNHS 4-Rizal student, bagged the 1st runner-up award next to the LNNCHS contestant who earned the Lakan ng Kalikasan title. De Veyra also garnered the Best Kalikasan Attire. Both Acuno and De Veyra were coached by Ms. Geniebev Palay and chaperoned by Mrs. Mertzua P. Mangao.
