

TAIAO Sports
(Beijing Taiao Sports Culture Development CO., LTD)

Taiao Sports (short form of Beijing Taiao Sports Culture Development CO., LTD.) was founded in 2005 with the headquarters in Beijing. Its service center is located in the office building of State General Administration of Sports of China.

As a professional sport flooring marketers and service providers in China, Taiao Sports was recognized as a Leading Brand by the China Building Decoration Association (CBDA). Taiao Sports has a professional team with functions of design, research and development, production, sales, installation and technical services, to provide all customers comprehensive services and professional solutions.

Taiao Sports has the construction capability of the first-rate professional sports venues. Taiao Sports has successfully built many world-class sports venues, such as 2008 Olympic Games in Beijing, 2010 Asian Games in Guangzhou, 2011 Universiade in Shenzhen, the XI National Games in 2009, the XII National Games in 2013 and the VII National City Games in 2011.

Taiao Sports is enthusiastic in promoting cultural, educational and sports exchanges between ASEAN and China. It signed a cooperative agreement with the ASEAN-China Center (ACC) in September 2012, with a view of becoming an official partner of ACC. As an exclusive partner of ACC in the field of sports equipment and facilities, Taiao Sports has more opportunities to make contributions to the sports development of ASEAN countries